SPECIAL EDUCATION COOPERATIVE

ROLE MODEL POLICY FOR EARLY CHILDHOOD CLASSES

Butler County school districts are committed to the growth of early childhood special education students. A part of this growth process is supported by the inclusion of role model students in the early childhood classrooms.

The following policies have been accepted and approved by the Butler County School Board Council Special Education Cooperative.

The number of role model students per each classroom shall not exceed one role model student per every two disabled students.

Role model students shall demonstrate behaviors of "normal" developmental milestones, and will be required to complete an application and screening process prior to enrollment and attendance. The screening process will be in March (date to be determined) at the Bluestem Elementary School. Per Bluestem district policy, role model students will be no less than four years by September 1 of each school year. All role model students shall be toilet-trained. Role model students displaying severe and extreme behavior problems may be dismissed upon building team recommendation. Parents will be asked to sign a contract stating that they understand these terms and conditions.

Role models will be selected on a random basis. Parents who wish to apply for their child to be a role model student must complete an application by March 1, for the next school year. Parents of potential role model students will be required to complete this application process and be accepted into the program by a building level team coordinated by the building principal.

Transportation services may or may not be provided for role model students, and will be based on each individual district's guidelines. Role model students are required to be present on all regular school days. Role model students who have 3 or more unexcused absences may be dismissed from the program and replaced by another role model student. Parents are required to be prompt when delivering and picking up their child before and after school. Students who are left longer than 15 minutes, after school on three different occasions, may also be dismissed from the program and replaced by another role model student.

Role model students will be required to pay regular school fees, as determined by the early childhood teacher and the building principal. Fees are due on the first date of regular attendance in class. These fees shall cover costs incurred for snacks, craft projects, field trips and other miscellaneous expenditures. Scholarships may be available in each individual school district.

I accept the above terms and conditions for my child to be a role model in the early childhood classroom at Bluestem Elementary.
